F. R. M. CLUB GUESTS MRS. MORRIS

Mrs. C. S. Morris at her home, 1216 Fourth avenue, entertained the members of the F. R. M. 500 club yesterday afternoon, the affair being turned into a Washington birthday party. In the games of 500 which occupied the forepart of the afternoon, Mrs. J. H. Bos-tock, Mrs. William Purse of Moline and Mrs. Ellsworth Ziegler of Minne-apolis won the first, all-out and con-solation prizes respectively. Mrs. George Corda being given the hostess' prize. Dainty lunch was served at the card tables after the games, the lunch cloths, napkins, etc., being in keeping with the day. The place cards were novel, in that attached to each hatchet was an original verse on the lives of Washington and Robert Morris, written by A. S. Burt. Mr. Morris is a direct descendant of Robert Morris, a signer of the Declaration of Independence and an intimate friend of Washington, and the verses were written of instances in their lives. Each guest read her verse and then national songs were sung and instrumental music enjoyed. Mrs. Charles Comfort of Moline will be the next hostess, entertaining at her home on Nineteenth street and Eleventh ave-nue, Moline, in two weeks.

The verses composed by Mr. Burt are:

When our land was dark and drear
Liberty crouched low in fear.
Then it was the Mighty One
Sent our patriot, Washington.

Let us honor Washington
For his victories, nobly won.
To Robert Morris honor, too;
His descendants are here with you.

Washington and Morris, side by side,
For their country lived and died.
We need more Washingtons today,
But the Morris tribe is here to stay.

In the winter of '76
George was in an awful fix.
What did he do? He called for Bob,
And said, "Come feed this hungry mob."

While the army toiled and bled,
Winter came and hope seemed dead.
Cold and starved the patriots lay,
Washington could only pray.

Then he saw a ray of light,
Saw a chance to win the fight.
Robert Morris came in view
With food and clothing, money, too.

Days of old have long been passed,
Liberty has won at last.
In eternal peace may heroes rest
Who gave to liberty their best.

Across the sea to France he went,
And there his time was spent.
He placed our credit at its best,
And kept our army fed and dressed.

Many times the story is told
Of the emblem you now hold.
Let us be as nobly true
As the George the patriots knew.

Let us turn our minds today
To those heroes passed away;
See if we can reach the goal—
Purity of heart and soul.

Though this world may seem severe,
Hopeless to be of good cheer,
Let us think of days gone by
And for their virtues nobly try.

FAREWELL SURPRISE PARTY.

Last evening a company of 12 young women dressed in masquerade costumes, went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. McDonald, where they carried out a farewell surprise party. Singing and instrumental music helped pass the evening and at 10 o'clock a three-course lunch was served. The follow-ing composed the company: Misses Margaret McEllenney, Elizabeth Burke-hart, Marie Lovell, Margaret Bailey, Bessie Hinsberger, Marie Seiter, Frances Barlong, Stella Carlson, Ella

ROCK ISLAND SCORES BIG VICTORY

Well-known Drug Firm Secures Ex-clusive Contract for this City

The Twentieth Century Pharmacy of this city yesterday concluded negotia-tions to act as sole representative here of the nation-wide movement to pro-mote Health-Safety-First. This move-ment was set on foot by the foremost American manufacturers of ready-put-up prescriptions in conjunction with the leading retail druggists of the country.

These ready-put-up-prescriptions are put up for convenience in calling for them under the name of Salko Prepa-rations. They are prescriptions for the relief of sickness from its earliest stages which have been tried and proved by the foremost medical ex-perts.

There is hardly an ill that human flesh is heir to that is not prescribed for in this line.

To give you an idea of the comple-teness of the field covered by these ready-put-up-prescriptions we list here-with a few of the ordinary, every-day ailments and the Salko preparation prescribed for each:

For Constipation, Biliousness, etc., Salko Liver Tonic or Salko Liver Pills, according as you prefer liquid or pills as a matter of convenience. For sore-ness, stiffness, bruises, aches and pains, Salko Family Liniment. For falling hair and dandruff and to keep hair healthy, Salko Hair Tonic. As a soothing antiseptic balm after shaving and to prevent ingrowing hairs and sore neck, Salko Shaving Lotion. For dis-ordered kidneys and bladder and for backache, Salko Kidney and Backache Pills. For quick and safe relief from headaches, Salko Liquid Headache Remedy.

This association also has prepared a valuable health primer for enabling the public to recognize their ailments from their symptoms and to make it easy to get the right prescription. It is called the Salko Safety First Manual of Health and Diet and will be given free to all who ask for it at the store.

TO HONOR VISITOR.

Miss Alice McCoy, 1416 Fifth-and-a-half avenue, entertained a company of tri-city young women last evening in honor of Miss Gertrude Coyne of St. Louis, the guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Samuelson of 1211 Fifth avenue, Moline. Progressive 500 was the evening diversion, the prizes going to Misses Margaret Bauer and Agnes St. Oge and there was a pretty guest favor for Miss Coyne. The hostess served a delightful three-course lunch in which the Washington birth-day idea was carried out, the flowers, nut baskets, place cards and favors all helping to suggest the day. On the surface of each water tumbler floated a tiny silk flag and the salad cases were tied with red, white and blue ribbons.

ALUMNAE PARTY BIG SUCCESS.

Forty tables of cards were surround-ed last evening when the Alumnae as-sociation of St. Joseph's school enter-tained in the school house, with games of 500 and cinch. Favors were award-ed in both games, Mrs. J. B. Ainsworth and Mrs. William Bennett taking the first and second prizes for the ladies and Frances Broderick and W. H. Col-lins for the men in the 500 games, and Miss Cleff Eador of Davenport and G. H. Walsh in the cinch games. To Mrs. M. W. Broderick fell the all-out prize. The members of the association served their guests with refreshments after the games, the affair proving as successful financially as it was so-cially.

MRS. WILSON HOSTESS PRETTY PARTY.

Mrs. J. W. Wilson invited a company of 30 ladies to her home, 2416 Eighth avenue, yesterday for a George Wash-ington party entertaining them royally. The parlors were bright with red carnations and smilax and with the national colors, and in the dining room were draped flags with pictures of George and Martha Washington in conspicuous places. The table had as its centerpiece a big basket filled with red carnations and smilax. After a season at cards in which the prizes were won by Mrs. W. E. Copp and Mrs. Swain Pearson, and thimbles for those who did not play, the ladies were in- vited to the dining room where they were served with an elaborate three-course lunch, the menu carrying out the national colors wherever possible. Favors were candy boxes in Washing-ton birthday designs. The party was a very pretty and enjoyable one.

WASHINGTON TEA AT LONG-FELLOW.

The Mothers' club of Longfellow school will hold a Washington tea and parcel post sale Friday afternoon, Feb. 25, in the school gymnasium. A pro-gram has been prepared and will con-sist of readings by Mrs. Faye Hough-McCarthy, piano numbers by Arvid Owens, vocal selections by Mrs. J. F. Witter, readings by Ruth and Robley Johnson, piano duet by Inez Benson and Marvel Hart, a Dutch play by Miss Lee's class and a dumb bell drill by Miss Kilpatrick's class. Lunch will be served after the program and the club invites the patrons and friends of the school to attend.

HOSTESS COLONIAL TEA.

Of the many Washington birthday parties given yesterday one of the prettiest was that arranged by Mrs. William McConochie for 30 of the younger women of her neighborhood whom she invited to her home, 2513 Seventh avenue, for the afternoon from 3 to 6, entertaining at a colon-ial tea. The house was beautifully and elaborately decorated with the na-tional colors and with red carnations and ferns and smilax. The dining room was especially attractive with its trimming of flowers and flags. Mrs. McConochie was assisted in receiving by Mrs. W. M. McConochie and Mrs. M. A. Hollingsworth, and the Misses Florence McConochie and Adella Wain-wright assisted in serving the guests, the latter two young women being dressed in pretty colonial costumes with powdered wigs. Three small grandsons of the hostess, William McConochie and John and Elbert Hol-lingsworth dressed in colonial suits, acted as the ushers of the afternoon. The ladies spent the fore part of the afternoon in a contest in which flags of the great nations were identified. Mrs. William Gauley receiving the prize which was a handsome picture of Washington. Later the Lecotta or-chestra, composed of four children, played for the guests and delighted them with their music. A number of dialect readings of a patriotic nature were given by Robert Cowley of Mo-line and were greatly enjoyed. In the late afternoon a delicious two-course lunch was served in the dining room, the courses of the menu being carried out in the national colors. The guests were given favors of hatchets with ribbons and cherries as decorations.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

SIMPLE HOME REMEDIES.

For Whooping Cough—Three pints rainwater, five cents' worth flaxseed, three lemons pared and seeded; boil all down to half quantity, strain add two tablespoons goose grease, one stick licorice, three-fourths pound rock candy (dissolve these last three articles in a little hot water before adding to first part). Now add five cents' worth glycerine. Shake thoroughly before using. Dose for child: One teaspoonful every two or three hours; for baby, one-half the above dose. Keep bottle in cool place.

For Constipation—Take one tea-spoonful of dry bran after each meal. This is a simple remedy and excellent.

Soda Mint—One teaspoon spirits of hartshorn, 1½ teaspoons bicarbonate of soda, 1½ teaspoons of mint water and six ounces soft water. Put half the water on the soda hot, but not boiling; when dissolved, add remain-der of water cold, and the other in-gredients. Procure a six-ounce vial to mix it in, which will determine the quantity of water to be used. Dose: One dessertspoonful after meals. For indigestion.

ODD USES OF VINEGAR.

Before frying fish, place it in a pan of cold water to which has been added a little vinegar and let stand for twenty to thirty minutes. You will be sur-prised to see this take the fish smell away when cooking.

When boiling cabbage or onions, place a small vessel on stove with some vinegar in it and allow to boil. This will kill odor of the cooking veg-etables.

If, before going out cold days to hang up clothes, you will rub plenty of vinegar on your hands, you will not suffer nearly so much from their get-ting cold.

Before robbing bees, rub a generous amount of vinegar on your hands or gloves; you can handle the bees with-out getting stung.

Before washing anything of a dark color that is likely to fade, let it lie in a solution of vinegar and salt wa-ter; will prevent running of colors.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a sten-ographer, aged 24 years. I am in love with a grass widower 31 years old with nothing in this wide world except a 4-year-old son. Of course, that would not worry me, as I dearly love children. But he drinks in spite of the fact that I opposed to it and he knows it. He says he can let it alone when he wants to, but is going to have a drink when-ever it pleases him. I have only known him to be dead drunk about five times in the three years that I know him. If I were not quite so old I might try to give him up, but as it is I may stand a chance of being an old maid and be laughed at by my friends. What would you do if you were in my place?

DOWN-HEARTED.

I would take the chance of being an old maid, laughed at by my friends. A man who cares so little for you that he will not give up drink would make you very unhappy if you married him. An old maid's fate is far more fortunate than the fate of the woman who is unhappy married.

THE THREE TWINS.

(1) No.
(2) Boys sometimes give girls a bracelet or necklace for an engage-ment present instead of a ring. A gift of jewelry is not a declaration of a man's love, and should not be regard-ed as an engagement present unless he has previously proposed.
(3) She should not.
(4) For the sake of your social po-sition you should not give a dance when public sentiment is against dancing. It seems hard to believe that a town of any size could as a whole be opposed to dancing.

THREE ANXIOUS GIRLS.

It would be better to have boys take you home than to go home alone, but it would be best to have one of your parents call for you.

ANXIOUS FRIEND.

(1) A simple lotion, good in some instances, is made from two ounces of lactic acid, one of glycerine and half an ounce of rosewater. This is applied morning and night, and several times during the day, and is allowed to dry on. Should it seem to irritate the skin, an effect an acid may have, then it must be diluted by adding more glycerine, or applying cold cream afterward. Freckles cannot be permanently removed.

(2) I don't think you weigh too much for your height. If you want to reduce, try going without potatoes and sweet and starchy foods, as well as fats, and don't drink water during your meals.
